

Joint International Conference on Astrophysics for Young Scientists

We would like to invite you to the First Joint International Conference on Astrophysics for Young Scientists organized by Peter the Great St.Petersburg Polytechnic University, the Russian-Armenian University and Byurakan Astrophysical Observatory. The Conference will take place in Byurakan Astrophysical Observatory, Byurakan, Armenia, October 3–7, 2017.

Within the conference young scientists will present their works in the field of astrophysics, space technologies, radio astronomy, navigation systems and other space applications. The participants will be provided with an opportunity of night observations at 2.6 m the BAO telescope and at the Armenian-Russian station of satellites tracking.

All accepted reports will be published as the Conference Proceedings indexing in Google Scholar and Russian Science Citation Index (RSCI).

For further information: byurakan.spbstu.ru